Report of the Investigating Committee Shows Enormous Influence.

VERY INTERESTING TESTIMONY

Committee Recommends That the Correspon dents Be Placed in Contempt and Punished Under an Existing Law for Refusing to Answer Questions.

Senator Gray, chairman or the select committee to investigate the alleged operations of the sugar trust in connection with tariff legislation, yesterday submitted a partial report of the proceedings of that committee bearing upon the refusal of the newspaper corre spondents, Edwards, Shriver and Walker, to answer questions propounded by members of the committee

The report, after reciting the resolution by which the committee was authorized to sit, states that E. J. Edwards was summoned to and did appear before the committee, and that he confessed that he had written the letter over the non de plume of "Holland," which was printed in the Philadelphia Press of the 14th inst. The report then cites the proceedings of the committee and Mr. Edwards' refusal to reply to questions. The chairman read to him the portion of his letter in which he stated that Secretary Carliste had secretly visited the Democratic members of the Finance Committee and had demanded that the sugar interest be taken care of, because the Democratic party was under obligations to that interest.

In the report of Mr. Edwards' testimony, which is not quoted specifically by the com-In the report of Mr. Edwards' testimony, which is not quoted specifically by the committee, the part of his letter referring to the President's alleged interest in the Hawaiian question because of the sugar interests is given. Referring to this matter Mr. Edwards said that in September of last year he met "a gentleman who spoke to me about an article I had written concerning an operation upon Mr. Cleveland's jaw for cancer or maglignant growth, which operation had taken place some weeks before upon Mr. Benedict's yacht.

'This gentieman said to me, 'As importan as that news is there is something much more important to this country besides the fatal disease which is now brewing. I asked him if it was something which he could give me. He said not then, because he was under confidence not to do so. Later, when he had been confidence to the beautiful that the country had been the information that an attempt had been made to restore the queen of Hawan, and that it had failed, this gentleman stated that that was the news which he had and could not give. My recollection is that he either told me it was on Mr. Benedict's yacht, at his piace, or at some resort, a pleasure excursion of some kind. Mr. Havemeyer, Mr. Beneof some kind. Mr. Havemeyer, Mr. Bene-dict, Mr. Cleveland, and some others were present. There had been a general conversa-tion about the Hawaiian Islands sugar inter-ests, and I think he said Mr. Havemeyer, at all events it was said by some one, that there would be a sensation in the country before Congress met."

The Chairman—Who said it?
Mr. Edwards—Either Mr. Havemeyer, Mr. Benedict or some of the party; because it would be then found that there was peace in Hawaii and the queen would be restored. This gentieman was a Cet. H. W. R. Heyt, of Greenwich. He had been speaker of the Connecticut legislature.

The Chairman—What was that information, in addition to what you said?

Arr. Edwards—The information was that the story which he could he have told me in September was that there had been an admission, confession, or statement of these people that before the regular session of Congress it would be found that the queen had been restored. Collicyt said he could not tell it then. After the news came the colonel met me and said that

Mr. Edwards stated that he had heard that very much of the sugar trust contribution to the Democratic campaign went into the channels controlled by Mr. Croker, chair and of the state committee. A part of the programme of the Victoria conference was the suppression of what was called the anti-snapper fac-sion of what was distasted.

Asked what "agency" he referred to in his statement that Senator Gorman had been brought into close relations with the sugar trust "by an agency which it may not be well at present to reveal," Mr. Edwards said that by common report Stephen B. Eikins was that agency. "It is," said he, "common understanding that Mr. Eikins and Mr. Gorman, being relatives by marriage, having had very great business interests in common, their relations and been very close. That is a matter of common report. In that sense! Asked to give the name of the men connected with the sugar trust to whom his remarks applied, he said they were whom his remarks applied, he said they were Henry O. Havemeyer, Theodore Havemeyer (although in a very much less degree), John E. Searies, jr., Cord Meyer, jr., and, in a less degree and indirectly, Mr. E. C. Benedict, "My own impression is that Mr. Benedict was not actively connected with the sugar trust, except his triendships—not in a business way. The impression in Wall street is that he, as a broker and in other ways, is identified with it."

In response to a request for his information

In response to a request for his information that a member of the trust had said that the trust owned the Senate, Mr. Edwards said that he had beard that remark attributed to Cord Meyer, jr., as having been made by him at the Manhattan Club. He could not, howat the Manhattan Cab. He could not, how-ever, rescall who had given him this informa-tion. He had also heard from the same source that it was about this time that Mr. Meyer began to visit Secretary Lamont, About the same answers were made to other About the same answers were indee to other questions concerning statements made of the influence of the sugar trust with the administration, except that articles in Harper's Weekly were cited as justification for some of them. of her advertisements.

She was on the verge of going to a fortune teller in order to learn if she were destined forever to remain single, when a brilliant idea occurred to her. So important was the idea that it took quite an amount of study to evolve it into practical shape. He had heard that Mr. Carlisle had given Mr. Havemeyer's letters to the members of the Finance Committee of the Senate. He also said the report on Wall street was that Mr. Cleveland believed it would be an injustice to the sugar people to compel them to submit to a bill like the Wilson bill, and that it was not fair. He said it had also been a matter of common report in New York that Senator McPherson had declared in the presence of members of the Finance Committee that the Democratic party was preparing to stab the members of the Finance Committee that the Democratic party was preparing to stab the men who had saved it.

With reference to the reported secret interview of Secretary Carlisle with the Democratic members of the Finance Committee Mr. Edwards stated that it was his recollection that the gentleman who told him of the interview had stated that he was present at it and that the speech attributed to the Secretary was quoted from memory, but he declined to give the name of the witness. He stated, however, that he had obtaind the information in Washington from a gentleman to whom Bradford Merfill, editor of the New York Press, had directed him. He said he had the same authority for the statement that it was Mr. Carlisle who had prepared the sugar schedule.

I know it as a matter of public under-standing on the stock exchange."

He said that he had the same authority that he had for other statements concerning legis-lation and Secretary Carlisie's efforts in be-half of sugar for the statement that the New York agent of this firm had known of the latest amendments to the tariff bill when Sen-ator Voorhees had denied on the floor of the Senate that the amendments were in exist-senate that the amendments were in exist-senate that the amendments were in exist-senate that the statement that Senator ence, and also for the statement that Senator ence, and also for the statement that senator Caffery had prepared a sugar schedule for submission to the Finance Committee while Mr. Havemeyer leaned over his shoulder in a room in the Capitol adjacent to the Finance Committee room, but he declined to divulge the authority in either case.

Mr. Edwards said further it was also upon common report that he had stated that Senator Brice was so closely connected with H. L. He knew that their offices adjoined, and knew of this connection as well as he knew anything of a similar character.

During the course of his testimony Mr. Walker stated that he of his testimony Mr. Walker stated that he seen Senntors a the Ariington go upstairs with gentlemen whom he was told were members of the sugar trust and go to Mr. Havemeyer's room. Bourke Cochran said Walker had asked him upon one occasion whether he was the attorney for the sugar trust, and he told him that he had never been the attorney for that organization, but that he had declined to represent the trust in the courts in New York in 1836 or 1887. He also denied having told Walker that he favored a duty on sugar. The report closed as follows:

The report makes no recommendation in the case of Harry Walker, one of the correspondents who refused to reveal the authority for certain of his dispatches. They agreed that Mr. Carlisle had neither made such a visit to the committee, and that no such demand had been made upon the committee for the reason given in Mr. Edwards' letter or on any other account.

They also denied the report that a meeting had been held by the committee on the Sunday before the tariff bill was reported for the consideration of the sugar schedule, and said that if the sugar people had been together in an adjoining room while the committee was in session at any time they were not cognizant of the fact.

Senator Vest denied emphatically that he had informed Joe Rickey of the progress of the committee in considering the sugar schedule while the bill was in committee. The committee adjourned over until Thursday. The examination of members of the Finance Committee will be resumed at the

GAS WAS IN DEMAND.

But Sugar Again Led the Market in

NEW YORK, May 29.—The share speculation t day was strong in tone, but was rather dull, the volume of business being lighter than for some days past. The heliday to-morrow had possibly much to do with both the advancing tendency of prices and the general inacti 1sy. The bears, who are constitutionally opposed to emaining short over a holiday, were the main remaining short over a holiday, were the main buyers in the market to cover their short con-tracts, and to the short interest is due the appre-ciation in values. The feeling of uncertainty which fills the speculative mind on the eve of a holiday kept some purchasers out of to-day's market, and this tonded to restrict the business. The feature of the day was the heavy demand for Chicago Gas, the buying in which is believed to have been for the same clique which has operated so successfully in sugar, and which, it is said, has formed a bull poel in gas. Their purchases sent the price up sharply to N, an ad-vance of 20g per cent. from yesterday's closing price, with only ½ per cent reaction at the close.

Sugar led the market in point of activity, fluc-tuating between 994; and 191%, and closing 1 per cent. down from the highest point of the day, bet 1% per cent. Incher than on yesterday. The trading in the stock was in small lots, show-ing that the big operators were not in the market.

"Well, that would be better than paying any money out, but it seems odd, as I say."
"I see you are a particular man," replied Europa, without heeding his objection.
"I might almost as well marry the woman," he said, "if I've got to keep her and be responsible for her."
"Just as well, I should think," replied Europa, without any change of countenance. "She knows all about housekeeping and farm work, and would have no objection to getting married."

"Well, I don't know as I came out here to ret married particularly; 'twas the farm I was after, but I might consider it. How could I see the party: "By looking straight ahead of you," answered Europa.

Europa by this time was blushing purple.
All her nervous energy had suddenly given way, but the Vermonter had no iden of any sentimental extras, so he went ahead with the business.

"It's all very well," he said, "to settle upon taking you as a life boarder, Miss Brown, but Feet relieved. Dr. White.
